Book Discussion & Signing

Jen Schradie, Observatoire sociologique du changement (OSC) at Sciences Po

Brooke Foucault Welles, Northeastern University

Co-sponsored with the Department of Sociology

Tuesday, October 22nd, 12-2pm

Alumni Center, 716 Columbus Avenue

Please join us for a book discussion and signing featuring Jen Schradie, Observatoire sociologique du changement (OSC) at Sciences Po, and Brooke Foucault Welles, Northeastern University.

Schradie will be discussing and signing her new book: The Revolution That Wasn't: How Digital Activism Favors Conservatives. Foucault Welles will be discussing and signing bookplates for her forthcoming book, #HashtagActivism: Networks of Race and Gender Justice, co-authored with Moya Bailey and Sarah J. Jackson.

Jen Schradie is an Assistant Professor at the Observatoire sociologique du changement (OSC) at Sciences Po in Paris. Previously, she was a Research Fellow at the Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse, based at the Toulouse School of Economics, as well as at the Maison des Sciences de l'Homme et de la Société, Université de Toulouse. Her broad research agenda is to interrogate digital democracy claims with empirical data.

Brooke Foucault Welles is an Associate Professor in the Department of Communication Studies in the College of Arts, Media and Design, and a core faculty member of the Network Science Institute and the NULab for Texts, Maps, and Networks at Northeastern University. Combining the methods of computational social science and network science with the theories of communication studies, Foucault Welles studies how online communication networks enable and constrain behavior, with particular emphasis on how these networks enable the pursuit of individual, team, and collective goals.

This event is free and open to the public, a light lunch will be provided, but if you are not a member of the Northeastern community, please email Sarah Connell (sa.connell@northeastern.edu) to RSVP.
